Novitec Rosso Ferrari 599 GTO

25/02/2011 23:21 by admin

Novitec Rosso, the same tuning firm that brought us the Ferrari 458 Italia and the Race 606 Carbon Ferrari California, is headed to the 2011 Geneva Motor Show scheduled to kick off in just a few days. At the show, Novitec Rosso plans to present a tuning package for the most powerful 599 in the line-up: the GTO Not much was done to the exterior of the Ferrari, but the makeover provided for the engine more than makes up for whatever they did do on the outside. If anyone thinks that the 670 galloping horses found underneath the 599 GTO’s hood are enough bang for their buck, then they need to get ready to be pleasantly surprised. Novitec Rosso was able to tweak and massage an extra 218hp out of the sports car’s already powerful V12 engine. Anything else done to the vehicle is just icing on the cake[...]

Source: topspeed Tuning