It could be argued ? and the car does present a strong case for itself - that the Audi R8 Spyder is one of the most tuner-friendly supercars in the world today. Not only does the car look drop-dead amazing on its own, but it's got an overall package that is ripe to be tuned-up. We've seen a number of aftermarket companies put in their own renditions of a modded R8 Spyder and now, German tuning company Sport Wheels is ready to dive back into the pool with their new R8 Spyder project called the "Red Spark" [...]
