Hamann Goes All Out with Evoque Body Kit

05/03/2012 21:51 by admin

German tuner Hamann knew that it had to step out of its comfort zone of mainly targeting BMWs and Mercedes cars to create its own package for he Range Rover Evoque, which will likely become a very popular car to customize.

And they did just that, as besides the mental 720 horsepower BMW M5 we showed you earlier, they will launch a complete program for the new SUV at the Geneva Motor Show. Besides the crazy body kit, there's also a power boost of 31 hp and 65 Nm just for the diesel, as well as... [...]

Source: autoevolution