The Renault Clio RS is one of the spiciest hothatches on the market and it seems that now there is someone who wants to add an extra topping. We are talking about German aftermarket developer MR Car Design, which has prepared a few technical upgrades for the French vehicle.

The naturally-aspirated 2.0-liter powerplant has been gifted with an Akrapovic exhaust that features a 200-cell metallic catalyst, as well as with an ECU remap. The result? The driver can now play with 220 hp. The vehicle'... [...]
