Range Rover Slips into Uniform With Kahn Military Edition

25/11/2011 18:28 by admin

British tuning gurus Project Kahn prove once again that they... can, by introducing a military-themed Range Rover that's supposed help you think you're going to war in a fashionable vehicle. The metallic gray Military Edition features a luxury interior and a bespoke exterior finish. It's even supposed to keep you safe with the help of blacked-out windows that are also bullet resistant.

The cosmetic changes start with a set of 22-inch Kahn wheels, LED lights and one of their bespoke body kits,... [...]

Source: autoevolution