

CFC Shows Pimped Out Volkswagen Beetle

07/06/2011 06:19 by admin

As the German automaker is making final preparations in regards to the market launch of the all-new 2012 Volkswagen Beetle, the previous generation of the 'bug' is still on top of its game. A convertible version of the model has recently been used by the Weilheim-based CarFilmComponents (CFC) as a show car during the 2011 Tuning World Bodensee in early May.

There they have pimped out the Beetle on-site, in front of the visitors, transforming it into an insane-looking vehicle that could [...]

Source: autoevolution