German tuner KBR Motorsport has decided to make a project out of the Chevrolet Spark five-door, a car not usually targeted due to its image. The smallest offering from Chevrolet in Europe has been enhanced with a set of 17-inch Barracuda Voltec T6 alloy wheels, which sit closer to the body thanks to a H&R lowering suspension kit. To give it that racing look, the tuner has also fitted two racing stripes going down the side of the c... [...]
