

Mugen Attempts to Make the Honda Fit Shuttle Look Cool and Sporty

07/07/2011 03:59 by admin

When the people over at Honda's tuning partner Mugen aren't working on more interesting and unique projects like the Civic Type R and even the CR-Z, they are usually kept busy with the brand's more mundane vehicles such as the newly introduced Fit Shuttle. The Japan market only Fit Shuttle is a slightly taller, longer and more practical version of the Fit (also marketed as the Jazz in certain countries) which itself is a tall five-door subcompact model.[...]

Source: Carscoop