

Gold-plated Ferrari 599 GTB Fiorano guarded by Mansory-tuned Rolls-Royce Phantom Drophead C

07/08/2011 20:27 by admin

The power of extravagance knows no bounds, especially for those who just can't seem to get enough of it. Then again, when you have the ability to just throw money around like its disposable paper, we suppose that you can do pretty much anything you want, including plating your Ferrari supercar in gold. This is the Ferrari 599 GTB Fiorano that has been worked on by Hamann so there's some top-level tuning in the car already. We already saw this car in the past but it's certainly worth repeating: this bad boy is plated...with gold. Apparently, the car belongs to a wealthy and high-profile individual from Dubai and was recently spotted in London being accompanied by no less than a Mansory-tuned Rolls-Royce Phantom Drophead Coupe. If a six-figure Rolls-Royce can serve as the "bodyguard" of this gold-plated 599 GTB Fiorano, then it certainly speaks volumes as to how extravagant this 673-horsepower, gold-plated Ferrari really is.[...]

Source: topspeed