Sometimes, the aftermarket world comes up with really amazing stuff that makes your jaw drop and maybe your wallet lighter. This isn't one of those times!

What we have here is a Lamborghini Murcielago, which is still an OK-looking supercar, in a Roadster configuration, which makes it cool. The problem is that the Russians have been at it and have added a Reventon front bumper.

The workmanship looks a bit iffy around the lights, the scoops and the line of the bonnet. But the biggest problem... [...]
