

Essen 2011: Brabus SLS AMG Roadster World Premiere [Live Video]

28/11/2011 14:53 by admin

Our friend Justin was in Essen last week for the annual German motor show that usually centers around the custom and tuning industry. This year's edition didn't disappoint at all, with a couple of brand new Brabus monsters making their debut there.

We'll start with the tune SLS AMG Roadster, which has become the recipient of a new ports exhaust system that uses quad pipe with a diameter of 84 mm, as well as a new ECU map that allows the naturally-aspirated 6.2-liter AMG V8 engine to produce ... [...]

Source: autoevolution