

Tuned 2010 Chevrolet Camaro Costs $109,000

14/01/2009 11:29 by Tuning - AutoEvolution

Tuning kits are undoubtedly pretty attractive to all car enthusiasts out there but, when coming across $100,000+ packages, most of them would prefer to say no. But even so, Hennessey Performance Engineering, also known as HPE, has just unveiled its own Limited Edition 2010 HPE700 Camaro, a tuned car that incorporates astonishing and high-performance elements, Jalopnik wrote today.

First of all, there's the engine. HPE says the Camaro comes with GM's new LS9 supercharged V8 unit, b...

Source: Tuning - AutoEvolution