

Video: Lamborghini Murcielago and Nissan GTR show off their new exhausts in a tunnel

02/01/2012 22:12 by admin

This surely isn't the first time we've seen one car chasing another in a tunnel, after all, we just witnessed a Ferrari 458 chasing a McLaren MP4-12C recently. But this time it's a Lamborghini Murcielago going up against a 2012 Nissan GT-R. The best part of this video is that both of the supercars showcased were updated so both sound that much better. The Murcielago received an aftermarket exhaust and the GT-R - a Black Edition - has received a Kreissieg exhaust system. Our advice would be to turn up your volume - really loud - and enjoy this amazing video. It's really worth it, even if it's a little on the short side because it gives us more proof that there are some pretty amazing cars, even if we probably won't ever get the chance to drive them.[...]

Source: topspeed