

Gemballa to Debut Three Cars in Geneva

01/03/2012 18:16 by admin

German tuner Gemballa, which reinvented itself last year after its owner was murdered, is now ready for a fresh start and will use the upcoming Geneva Motor Show to bring three new goodies.

The first will be the McLaren MP4-12C GT3 race car (the one you see picture here), a development based on the 991 generation of the Porsche 911, as well as the second stage of its aftermarket program for the Cayenne.

We mustn't forget that Gemballa has always had a deep passion for Porsche vehicles, so ... [...]
