Lamborghini Aventador Dressed in Army Green

22/03/2012 13:31 by admin

The Lamborghini Aventador is a car that packs some serious fire power so it was only a matter of time before someone decided to finish the car in Army Green. We are now bringing you a set of photos showing an example of the Aventador that was dressed in this color, with the vehicle coming from Switzerland.

The supercar was sold by Schmohl, the Zurich Lamborghini dealership, with a customer paying CHF 525,000 (EUR435,500 or USD573,000) for it. Just imagine how it would be if the army actually ... [...]

Source: autoevolution