The Maybach brand may be defunct, but its uber-luxurious creations will stay with us for a while and we're here to show you the latest development on this topic, which, of course, is part of the custom car world. This comes from the US, where wheel specialist Forgiato has gifted a Maybach 57s with a set of its rolling goodies. The car, which uses a matte white finish, rides on Forgiato Concavo wheels, which huse a white center an... [...]
