Avus Performance has unveiled a new range of styling and performance accessories for the Nissan GT-R. Starting with a run-of-the-mill GT-R Black Edition, Avus added a matt black body vinyl adhesive foil (€2499), a coilover suspension (€1299) and 20-inch wheels (€999) outfitted with wheel spacers (€349). While the exterior looks a little plain, the same thing can't be said about the engine. Equipped with a modified ECU (€1899) and a high performance exhaust system (€998), the twin-turbo 3.8-liter V6 produces 580 bhp and 700 Nm of torque. While no performance figures were given, the revised output is a huge increase from the standard car's 485 bhp and 588 Nm of torque.
