Time and again, we've scoured the forums looking for the next supercar to drool over. Whether it's a completely new one or one that just got out of the tuning shops, we never miss an opportunity to see what new bad boy lies out there, primed and ready to unleash its wrath on the streets of the world. Good thing too because we've found this matte black Ford GT that has been given some pretty serious tune-up work. Peakcompletions from L4P took their Ford GT – an already amazing car in its own right – over to Shelby at Elite Autos to have some tweaks and upgrades done to it.[...]
