Okay, just reading the name of this car should make everyone wonder just how much it is going to cost, and don't worry, we'll get to that. First let's introduce the car. The Abarth 500C is typically no more than about $25,000 and features lots of little goodies, like that four cylinder inline engine that delivers a weak 140hp. Now add a tuning package from Fenice-Milano that consists of a little bling bling, and now this expensive ride starts to sparkle[...]
