The German tuner Arden is already famous for their impressive tuning packages for the Land Rover models. Their latest package is based on the Range Rover LM and is called AR 7 Highlander. The package includes both exterior and interior updates, but also a 50 HP engine updates. The wide body aerodynamic package includes a completely redesigned front and rear aprons, side skirts, fender flares and hand-made stainless steel grilles. Also, thanks to a new stainless-steel sport exhaust system the engine delivers an extra 50 HP. In order to handle the extra power, the AR7 gets an electronic suspension module in conjunction with the elegant-sporty 22 "Arden Dakar II light alloy wheels. The package also includes a high-performance brake system.[...]
