

BMW M3 by VF Engineering

07/02/2011 23:16 by admin

The M3 is no doubt one of the most impressive BMW models ever. It's V8 engine with 420 HP kept the front lines for quite some times. But even the best car sometimes need some updates. VF Engineering is offering a pretty impressive tuning package for the M3 model that updates both the car's look but also the engine's output. The car started its life as a Vorsteiner carbon fiber GTRS3 widebody kit. Next to this kit, the tuner adds a new set of 20" wheels, huge Brembo brakes and a custom intake manifold craved from a solid block of aluminum.[...]

Source: topspeed Tuning