Anderson Germany already amazed us with some impressive tuning packages - Gallardo Balboni or Ferrari California are just two examples. And the latest one they have revealed for the Porsche Panamera is no exception. The package is based on the Panamera 4S version and includes interior and exterior updates, but also a significant 85 HP power increase. Called Black Edition, the Anderson Panamera is all about black color, on both exterior and interior. The exterior is colored in a complete satin black painting combined with a new set of 22" wheels painted in black with red-painted brake calipers. On the interior the package adds carbon leather and black Alcantara with red trim and diamond
