A few days ago we brought you a very impressive Lamborghini Gallardo tuning package from Amari Design. Today is time for another one: a kit from the American tuner Racing Sport Concepts (RSC). Their package includes both aerodynamic updates, but also a very impressive engine update. For the exterior kit the tuner is offering a new front splitter and a new side skirts painted in white like all the other body elements, while the hood, windshield frame, headlights and side mirrors are finished in black. The exterior package is finished by a new set of lightweight alloy rims in a five double-spoke design.[...]
