The tuning packages for the Porsche Cayenne just keep piling on, don't they? Just a couple of days ago, Lumma Design revealed their CLR 558 GT based on the SUV and now Mansory has released their new tuning kit for the Cayenne. The new package includes aerodynamic updates, ultra-light aluminum rims, and powerful engine enhancements. The aerodynamic package includes plenty of carbon fiber add-ons such as front and rear aprons, side skirts, bonnet, and mudguards. The package also includes large air inlets to provide plenty of fresh air for the Cayenne's 4.8 liter turbo engine. The car sits on fully forged 10x22 inch mono block rims in turbine design.[...]
