

Audi A7 by Abt Sportsline

11/02/2011 01:42 by admin

The very first aftermarket package for the Audi A7 was recently brought to everyone's attention courtesy of tuning firm, MTM, but it certainly didn't take long for other tuning companies to follow suit and prepare their own versions of Audi goodness. This time around, the Audi A7 gets aerodynamic and performance upgrades from another German tuning company, and one that is no stranger to working on Audis, Abt Sportsline. Having built a reputation as one of the best Audi tuners in the world, Abt Sportsline took the A7 and created a luxury car that's more polished, more powerful, and looks about as good as anything that has come out of Abt Sportsline in the past.[...]
