There?s no shortage of tuning firms that work on wide-body aerodynamic kits for Mercedes vehicles. Whether it?s a renowned firm like Brabus or just a local custom company in your town, you?re going to inevitably find someone that can offer you these packages. Over in Osaka, Japan, a shop called Pole Position Tuning recently released their aerodynamic kits for two Mercedes models, the CLS-Class and the SL Class. Judging by the photos of these two kitted out Mercs, the folks over at PPT have definitely shown some promise with their packages.[...]
