

Rolls-Royce Phantom 'Project Kocaine' by Specialty Car Craft

29/03/2011 18:33 by admin

Before you jump up and protest the name of this tune-up project, understand first the concept behind its name. California-based Specialty Car Craft (SSC) ? not to be confused with Shelby Super Cars ? has prepared a razzle-dazzle kit for the Rolls-Royce Phantom called ?Kocaine?. While it?s hard to dismiss the nefarious implications of the name, SSC makes certain that there?s no connection between their project and that of the illegal substance. The Phantom was dressed up in a clean, matte Pearl White finish that has been customized by SSC themselves. To keep up to the car?s outstanding new custom-painted matte white finish, SSC also added a set of 26? Asanti wheels, giving it the proper stance befitting of a high-end, luxury Rolls-Royce Phantom.[...]
