

Anderson Germany's Evil Looking Aston Martin DBS

06/04/2011 19:17 by admin

It's nearly universally agreed that the Aston Martin DBS has one of the most elegant designs in the supercar segment, but that doesn't mean there's no room for improvement - especially when it's tastefully done. Anderson Germany's new package for the DBS falls into that category with the tuner playing around with the black and red color theme inside and out.[...]

Source: Carscoop Tuning