

Jeep Wrangler JK-8 Independence

08/04/2011 05:31 by admin

Jeep Wrangler is no doubt a very cool car, for those of you who enjoy these kind of cars. But what do you think about a Wrangler pick-up? Sounds even better, don't you agree? Called JK-8 Independence this specil Wrangler takes its inspiration from the 1980's, Mopar and features a 50 inches long bed, while the width between wheel wells is 44 inches. In order to create the pick-up style bed for the outside cargo, the Wrangler has been transformed into a two-seater model, with all the interior parts behind the front seats being removed. The JK-8 Independence has been equipped with a Mopar/Dynatrac ProRock 44 front axle and stock Dana 44 rear axle, a 4.5-inch long-arm suspension kit and 37-inch BF Goodrich Mud Terrain KM2 tires.[...]

Source: topspeed Tuning