The impressive SLS AMG ?Gullwing? may have long replaced the venerable SLR McLaren in the Mercedes-Benz?s ranks, but the tuning world is not about let go of the Stuttgart firm?s previous supercar. Edo Competition has revealed a new take on the SLR McLaren called the Black Arrow. Edo Karabegovic and his team over at Edo Competition started out with the SLR McLaren?s body, which gains a stealthy looking flat black coating and an overdose of red livery combined with new black colored 21-inch alloy wheels with a red ring that are shod in high-performance sport tires. There?s also new exhaust tailpipes and carbon trim.[...]
