

Chrome Purple Lamborghini LP670-4 SuperVeloce is a sight to behold

09/04/2011 02:46 by admin

Somebody once told us that when you already have a good thing, it's best to leave it the heck alone, especially if that 'good thing' happens to be a matte purple wrapped Lamborghini Murcielago LP670-4 SuperVeloce. Then again, nobody said anything about making a good thing better. While we have always professed our undying love for supercars decked in matte wrapping, our jaws almost fell to the floor when we caught sight of this spectacular beaut. Apparently, the owner of this Murcielago SuperVeloce decided that matte wrapping just wouldn't be enough to highlight his glorious Italian bull of a supercar. So he decided to get rid of the matte and have his supercar wrapped in a purple chrome foil. And we're not even paying that much attention to the set of ADV.1 Deep Concave ADV05 wheels the Murcielago is sitting on. We love the wheels too, by the way.[...]

Source: topspeed Tuning