British tuner, Project Kahn, has done it again. The company has announced the limited edition RS300 Afzal Kahn based on the Land Rover Range Rover SUV. The model comes equipped with Cosworth technology, a 10 piece body kit, and a pretty impressive interior update. The body kit includes two piece front bumper spoilers, a satin front mesh grille, a front bumper A-frame, door handles, color coded side sills and rear apron, and Cosworth stainless steel door entry sills. The final touch for the exterior has been given by a new set of 20" RS wheels.[...]
