

New Mopar Grilles and Alloy Wheels for 2011 Chrysler 300 Sedan

09/05/2011 22:01 by admin

Mopar, the Chrysler Group's in-house performance and styling brand, has been on the busy side lately having introduced several upgrades for the latest Jeep vehicles, as well as standalone versions of the newest Dodge Charger and Challenger models. Now, the Detroit firm's tuning division is onto its next project sprucing up the new Chrysler 300 sedan with a range of custom grilles and bespoke alloy wheel designs. [...]

Source: Carscoop