The Fiat 500 is a nice car to drive. The Abarth version, which packs 135 hp (or 160 hp, in the Esseesse version's case) is a little bomb, we can tell you that as we've been directly hit by its explosion while testing it. However, if you really want a 500 that can rule the (motoring) world, you'll have to turn to the tuning market.

Ready for a radical proposal? Aznom decided to turn the 500 into the Motore Centrale R230. What does that mean? The vehicle's 1.4-liter turbocharged engine was [...]
