

Project Kahn Introduces the Black Vogue

07/06/2011 05:19 by admin

The Range Rover Vogue has just received a new aftermarket identity, as Project Kahn has played with the SUV, turning it into the Black Vogue.

With this project, the British tuning company wanted to offer a mix of lifestyle and performance, in order to give the owner of each unit a truly unique feeling. This approach was used both for the exterior and for the interior.

The vehicle now wears an exterior kit that comprises new front and rear fascias, custom side vents, side skirts that come [...]

Source: autoevolution