Ask European aftermarket developers about Infinitis and they won't have too much to say. This is actually a pity, as Nissan's luxury brand comes with sporting ambitions, which could be raised by tuners, so we are happy whenever such a development comes to life.

Getting to the point, we'll tell you that the AHG Sports tuner of Infiniti Centre in Hamburg has decided to take a shot at making the Infiniti FX30d S a better car.

We shall start with the engine modifications. We've recently tested [...]
