

MINI Goes All Bentley in Vilner's Latest Tuning Project

07/06/2011 11:23 by admin

BMW Group decided to launch a new luxury version of their compact sub-brand's most successful model called the MINI Inspired by Goodwood. But the bid for exclusivity from a major carmaker always results in ripples being created in the tuning world. As a result, the guys at Bulgarian design studio Vilner asked themselves the following question: What would happen if we had a go at that kind of project?

They did, and the result is a bit different, but still stylish. However, while the Goodwood [...]
