

MR Car Design Touches the Maserati Quattroporte

08/06/2011 19:40 by admin

The Maserati Quattroporte is expected to receive a new generation next year. However, the current incarnation of the car, which has been around for quite a few years, still has a special place in many enthusiasts' hearts. Want a proof? Aftermarket developers still like to play with the sexy Italian saloon.

The latest modification package for the vehicle comes from MR Car Design, which has gently touched the version of the car that was produced between 2003 and 2008. The German tuner offers [...]
