

Lumma Design Plays With the Cayenne... Again

14/06/2011 18:55 by admin

It seems like Winterlingen-based tuner, Lumma Design, has been tweaking the latest Porsche Cayenne model. Based on its popular CLR 558 GT body kit, the modified SUV turned slammed-down four-door coupe has received a number of styling changes, chief among which are the new 10x22-inch wheels.

The body kit on the White Paper Cayenne upgrades the appearance of the luxury SUV with a new wide body aero kit, which comprises of a redesigned, two-tone front bumper with a plethora of LEDs and fog [...]

Source: autoevolution