

Senner Tuning Unveils 165 HP Audi A1 1.4 TFSI

16/06/2011 13:17 by admin

There's a new and improved version of Audi's smallest offering on the way, and speculation as to what the output will be has been rampant, though most agree it will be over 200 hp. When the 2011 S1 is unveiled at this year's Frankfurt Motor Show, potential customers will also be greeted by a range of cosmetic changes befitting the Ingolstadt carmaker's sporty line. However, if more power and a body kit is what you are looking for, then why not go to the tuning world for help? [...]

Source: autoevolution