

BMW Z4 Gets Tweaked by 3D Design

20/06/2011 13:07 by admin

Ever since it was launched, the BMW Z4 Roadster received a great deal of attention from the tuning world, as it was expected to happen with a Bavarian creation. But the German open-top sports car has never been used to represent a positive philosophy... so far.

This latest creation comes 3D Design, who were inspired by the reactions following the Japan's natural disasters earlier this year.

According to the specialists at 3D Design, they all shared a common theme: let's not dwell on the[...]

Source: autoevolution