

Porsche 911 GT3 by Autodynamica Performance

21/06/2011 03:13 by admin

Trying to figure out which subject in these photos is the bigger star is a little unsettling so we'll give a little information on both to satiate the automotive and carnal desires that are surely present. The sexy lady in the photos is model Shellee Nemechek who hails from Texas and the vehicle placed directly behind her is the beautiful Porsche GT3 modified by AutoDynamica, also out of Texas. Now that that's covered, let's move on to the real business. What's this Porsche GT3 all about? The tuning package provided by the American tuner isn't exactly the tuning package to end all tuning packages, but it has its flair. It carries an electric program for the engine ($1,400) that was measured at the wheels on a Mustang Dynamometer four-wheel drive at 500 hp (a standard GT3 delivers 435 HP). Next to the engine update, AutoDynamica is also offering a new set of Brembo brakes ($4,990), a new exhaust system ($4,075), and a new set of wheels, offered in any size from 19" to 21" ($2345).[...]

Source: topspeed