

Ferrari FF Tuned by DMC to Produce 888 HP

22/06/2011 12:39 by admin

If you think that the first ever all-wheel drive Ferrari, that's also been fitted with a shooting brake body, is not going to stand up in a parking lot, than the tuning world will come to your aid, as German specialist DMC Tuning have played with the FF to produce something extreme - an 888 horsepower monster.

We have to admit that 'FF' is not a fitting name for a true gladiator of the high-performance world, so DMC changed it Maximus and gave it better weapons to fight with. The [...]

Source: autoevolution