

Nissan GT-R Agent Orange Now Boasts 1000 hp

29/06/2011 12:10 by admin

It's safe to say that the Nissan GT-R has created a tsunami of emotions that is traveling around the globe and can't be stopped. From the first moment Nissan released the car, the company made it clear that tuners should not mess around it. The carmaker was so serious about this that it threw a you'll lose the warranty! ball in the game.

What was the result of all that? More and more aftermarket packages being developed, bought and used for offering thrills to drivers from all over the [...]

Source: autoevolution