Looking like a tour buss for a small alternative rock band, B&B Automobiltechnik has unveiled today its latest performance package for the Volkswagen T5 2.0 TSI, covering both cosmetics and performance aspects of the vehicle extensively.

German tuners usually don't have a sense for silly names, but this project could easily be called the van from hell, as it packs a missive 320 horsepower and 495 Nm of torque. All that power comes from a series of mods, which cover an engine remap, better [...]
