Miami, Florida is more than just sun, sand, and South Beach. It's known for those things of course - not to mention all the hot people that live there - but there's one more thing for which Miami is starting to get known: a burgeoning auto scene. Plenty of the world's most exotic and expensive supercars run through the roads of Miami and where variety seems to be no problem, a certain auto company is looking to make heads turn with their own custom-build supercar, the Miami GT.[...]
