How would you like to own a Mercedes-Benz E-Class Cabriolet that can smoke even the most powerful of exotics in the world? It sounds like we're reaching considering that the car doesn't really belong in the same exotic landscape as those devil-may-care machines. But once you see what German tuning company, Brabus, has cooked up, you're going to have to pick your jaws up off the floor. Don't feel too bad, though, because we just picked ours up too.[...]
