We live in the world of fuel efficiency and CO2 emissions now, and we definitely need our fix of crazy tuning. Today, G-POWER came to the rescue by announcing that their stage two kit for the M3 has clocked an impressive 333.29 km/h (207.10 mph) at the recent Auto Motor und Sport High-Speed Test event in Italy.

This means that the BMW rocket blew away all but two of its rivals - losing out to cars producing 900 hp and 1,000 hp. To make the accomplishment seem even larger, the SK II Sporty [...]
