You'd think that the German gurus at BMW's M division would have done a proper job with the new 1-Series M Coupe, but that hasn't stopped some people from trying to improve on the car's design or performance. So is the case with the German tuning specialists at TVW Car Design, who have just presented their own take on the BMW 1-Series M Coupe to BimmerToday.

The baby M has thus received multiple modifications that target both its visual and mechanical aspects, with the end result visible in [...]
