

Project Kahn Brings Tuning Accesories to Our Attention

10/08/2011 19:20 by admin

When we talk about aftermarket developers, we are used to bringing you kits that target various parts of a car. However, this piece of tuning news is not dedicated to a package, but rather to a set of accessories, which has been is being offered by Project Kahn.

The British company brings to our attention multiple products, which are destined for both the exterior and the interior of various vehicle. The tuner starts with custom instrument panels, highlighting the importance of these goodies ...[...]

Source: autoevolution